Reflections

Dear Sisters and Brothers in Christ:

This Sunday at 5pm in the Roman Catholic Cathedral of St. John the Baptist there will be a gathering to celebrate the 500th anniversary of the Reformation, The Most Reverend Gregory Hartmayer, OFM Conv., Bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Savannah, and Reverend H. Julian Gordy, Bishop of the Southeastern Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, will co-preside. The service will also include prayers for Christian unity and the address will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Fleming Rutledge, a noted preacher and teacher from the Episcopal Church

The service will be similar to the service that was held in October 2016 in Lund, Sweden, that was led by Pope Francis, Lutheran World Federation President Bishop Dr. Munib A. Younan and Lutheran World Federation General Secretary Rev. Dr. Martin Junge.

In light of this event I would like to share the following from a meeting of the Pope and the Archbishop of Canterbury in 2013. - WWIII

The pair held a private conversation, before giving public addresses and attending a service of midday prayer together. In his address to the Pope, the Archbishop praised the work of popes and archbishops of Canterbury over the past fifty years to bring the Roman Catholic Church and the Anglican Communion closer together.

Honoring the custom for archbishops of Canterbury visiting the Vatican, Archbishop Justin wore the episcopal ring famously given to Archbishop Michael Ramsey by Pope Paul VI in 1966. The ring, which Archbishop Michael wore until the day he died, is kept at Lambeth Palace and has become a symbol of fraternal love and efforts towards reconciliation between Roman Catholics and Anglicans.

Recalling the words of Pope Paul VI to Archbishop Michael, the Archbishop told Pope Francis: "I am coming to a place where I can feel myself at home."

Archbishop Justin told the Pope that they must promote "the fruits of our dialogue". He continued: "And, with our fellow bishops, we must give expression to our unity in faith through prayer and evangelization. It is only as the world sees Christians growing visibly in unity that it will accept through us the divine message of peace and reconciliation."

Both the Archbishop and the Pope acknowledged that differences between Roman Catholics and Anglicans have caused pain in the past and would present challenges in the future. But the Archbishop said that a firm foundation of friendship "will enable us to be hopeful in speaking to one another about those differences". Meanwhile the Pope said recent decades had been marked by "a journey of rapprochement and fraternity".

Suggesting further areas of common focus between the two leaders, the Archbishop spoke of the need for Christians to demonstrate "the self-giving love of Christ" in hospitality and love for the poor. "We must love those who seek to oppose us, and love above all those tossed aside—even whole nations—by the present crises around the world. Also, even as we speak, our brothers and sisters in Christ suffer terribly from violence, oppression and war, from bad government and unjust economic systems. If we are not their advocates in the name of Christ, who will be?"

‘Lowly but chosen’

Archbishop Justin presented Pope Francis with the motto of the Pope - 'Miserando atque eligendo' - in gold letters on vellum. The motto, meaning lowly but chosen (literally in Latin, 'by having mercy, by choosing him') is a quote from an English Church Father, Bede, whose 'Ecclesiastical History' charts the union of the different strands of British Christianity relating in and through Rome to the Universal Church.

Volunteers Needed

STEPS Summer Camp (Rashawn's Camp) is asking for volunteers to help direct car parking at the Savannah Speed Classic sponsored by the Hilton Head Island Motoring Festival & Concours d' Elegance. The races will take place at the Savannah Speedway on Hutchinson Island on Saturday and/or Sunday, October 28th and 29th. Volunteers work from 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM. If you are only able to work half of one day, you can still be of assistance. Lunch is provided. By volunteering, you will help STEPS earn a grant which supports the summer program.

If you can volunteer, please contact Kevin Heyman at mkheyman@gmail.com with your name, address, phone number, T-shirt size and which day or days you can work. Richard Lynn of the Motoring Festival staff will contact you with directions and provide your credentials.

Rashawn and all his friends thank you for your support!!

All Soul's Day (Nov. 2) is quickly approaching. Forms are available in the Narthex to submit the names of your beloved departed. They will be prayed for at Masses on Nov 2 and in rotation at Friday Masses through the month of November.

Looking ahead

There will be a brunch after the 10:00 Mass on Sunday, November 5th, for Camp scholarships. Mark your calendars.
